IAU Symposium 362 (online):

Título: "THE PREDICTIVE POWER OF COMPUTATIONAL ASTROPHYSICS AS A DISCOVERY TOOL"

Data: 08 a 12 de novembro de 2021

Dear colleagues,

As the global pandemic situation stays quite severe, we have decided to make the IAU Symposium 362: THE PREDICTIVE POWER OF COMPUTATIONAL ASTROPHYSICS AS A DISCOVERY TOOL, a fully online event using the Zoom platform. The Symposium will be held on Nov 8-12, 2021.

We are glad to announce that the registration is now open at the Symposium Web page

<http://iaus362.astro.unistra.fr/IAUS362.html>

Unfortunately, we cannot avoid taking the registration fee to cover management expenses and proceedings publication. The fee is set to be 50 Euros for regular participants and 30 Euros for students. Details of the payment procedure will be provided later.

We may have limited funds to waive the fee for some participants. If you want to apply for a fee waiver, please, do so by October 15th, 2021. The applicants need to fill the IAU travel grant form and send it to the organizer.

See the link for more details:

http://iaus362.astro.unistra.fr/Travel_Grants.html

A deadline for registration and abstract submission for oral presentation is currently set to October 1st, 2021. Please, submit or resubmit your abstract using the registration form even if you have earlier submitted your abstract by e-mail.

You may address all the Symposium related questions to S362.iau@gmail.com

Please, circulate this information among people that may be interested in participating.
